INTRODUCTION

This volume contains a collection of all the rubbings and occasionally photographs that have been extracted from the finishing tool impressions that were recorded from the covers of decorated bindings in the manuscripts collection at the monastery of Saint Catherine's, Sinai.

This corpus was completed as an outcome of the thesis and became a tool for the author as it will become one for the researcher of Greek bindings. The rubbings in this corpus are produced in actual size and are 100% accurate copies from the original rubbings, in order to help the comparison with other rubbings.

A total of 1840 rubbings have been listed from a corresponding number of individual tools identified, which derive from 1195 decorated bindings from the manuscript collection. The total number of rubbings recorded exceeds 5500, however identical rubbings have only been reproduced once with the best impression available, while unidentified rubbings and others of extremely poor quality have been omitted.

In Part 1 of this volume, the list of the tool numbers is given along with the manuscript/s shelfmarks, the manuscript/s date and content, the provenance and date of the binding/s, and the binding group in which the binding/s that each tool appears on belong to. The records are arranged firstly by type of tool and then arranged by theme. Five types of tools are distinguished:

i) panels, ii) centre-pieces, iii) corner-pieces, iv) rolls and v) small hand-tools.

Within each of the above, only five categories of themes of tools are used for the arrangement of the tools, with the intention to create a catalogue that will be easy to search visually and that would omit the problems of naming tools and using terms that are not widely acceptable.

The five theme categories are:

i) theological & human figures, ii) animals, iii) vegetation, iv) abstract ornaments and v) miscellaneous

During the compilation of the corpus further distinctions were needed within each of the above five categories, in an attempt to arrange and organize the rubbings in the most visually convenient order, as well as to provide help in the process of comparing and finding similar rubbings. However, these sub-categories are not displayed in the corpus but the reader will be able to see that thematically similar rubbings will appear one near to the other, according to the sub-categories below:

TABLE OF THEME AND SUB-THEME CATEGORIES

|---------------------------------------|-------------------------|
| Theological & Human Figure | Vegetation |
| Angel | Fleur-de-lis |
| Annunciation | Floral curving branches |

The naming of the tools that are given in both Part 1 and Part 2 of this volume, follows certain conventions. Each record consists of two naming parts:

a) the identification number of each tool, which is an accession number in this volume is given in bold, e.g. 1234

b) the classification name of the tool: this name was attributed to each tool during the classification process. The first letter of the name represents the type of the tool. P for a panel, C for a centre-piece, L for a corner-piece, R for a rolla and H for a small hand-tool. The next letter represents the theme category: t for theological & human figures, a for animals, f for vegetation, o for ornamental motifs and m for miscellaneous motifs. After a full-stop the two letter code represents the sub-category of the theme group as given in the table above and in App.IV. Finally the number that follows is a sequential number within each sub-category.

e.g. Hf.fl02: H for small hand-tool, f. for vegetation, fl for fleur-des-lis, numbered 02 within the category of fleur-des-lis small hand-tools.

e) The correspondence with one of the forty original finishing tools that were found in the monastery is indicated next to the tool name, whenever that is applicable e.g. / TOOL 5.

Two categories of tools have not been listed in the corpus. These are the straight line tools and the concentric rings, both of which are used very frequently in Greek binding decoration. However, neither of these can offer material for comparison and it is clear that tools under this classification are generally not useful for identification purposes.

Part 2 includes the rubbings and illustrations of the finishing tools listed in Part 1, in the same numerical order. In Part 2 an additional convention is being used. A star * next to the name of a tool indicates that this tool appears on two or more bindings, hence the best impression of this tool is included only. In isolated instances an additional rubbing or a photograph may have been included to clarify the tool's impression.
